

EVER-PRESENT

You find yourself on Castro Street
You like the music, you like the beat
But man its heavy, oh so heavy everywhere
Trampled by the rush of night
Your heart searching for the light
But man its heavy, oh so heavy in the air
Hear the rush of lonely hearts
Tryin' to hustle to find their part
But man its heavy, oh so heavy in the air

There is one Jesus, He gives the light of life
The bright and morning star makes all things right
He can change your darkness to light
When your heart is faint, and it knows only pain
And you can't find the light of day
He's an ever-present help for your time of need
If your body's raked with pain, and the doctor says there's no cure

There's an ever-present help for the time of need
Ever-present help in your time of need
Ever-present help for your time of need
Ever-present help in the time of need
He's the ever-present help in the time of need
He's the ever-present help for your time of need
He's the ever-present help in the time of need
